PESERET EVENING NEWS | EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE.

Schools Affiliating With University Of Michigan Hold One.

SUMMARY OF DISCUSSIONS.

President Harper Delivers an Interesting Address on "The High School of the Future."

Special Correspondence. Chicago, Ill., Nov. 10.—The sixteenth educational conference of the academies and high schools affiliating or co-operating with the University of Chicago, has just closed. I believe a summary of the chief discussion may be of interest, in educational circles in our own state. This was a representative body of deans, principals and teachers, numbering more than 600, and representing 200 secondary schools.

The first feature was the annual contest in declamation by senior students of all these affiliated schools, throughout the central part of the United States. Two scholarships are given each year, of $120, one to the successful young man, the other to the young lady who excels her competitors. Representatives of the Kansas City high school have taken three prizes out of seven during the past four years. They came this time with even more confidence, but were "plucked" in the preliminary trial. "Over-confidence sometimes makes us loud of speech.

This method attracts to the university a choice class of students.

The chief feature of the conference was Prest. Harper's address on "The High School of the Future," He submitted the following proposition, which met the hearty approval of all who expressed themselves: 1-To connect the work of the eighth grade of the elementary school with that of the secondary school. 2-To extend the work of the secon-dary school to include the first two years of college work.

3-To reduce the work of the seven years thus grouped together to 4-To make it possible for the best class of students to do the work in five

President Harper stated that Yale had reduced the college course so that a person can now graduate in three years; that Harvard, Columbia and other schools were considering the same thing. He felt that time ought to be gained by omitting much of the use-less repetitions of the grades and high schools. Dr. Dewey was heartily in favor of the proposition.

Among the many points brought out in favor of it may be named the fol-

1-The necessity, so widely recognized, of lifting the standard for admission to the professional schools, 2—The general feeling that in some way or other time must be saved in the preliminary stages of educational work in order that men and women may enter upon their life work at an earlier

3-The practice, recognized in other countries, of drawing a sharp line between the work of the gymnasium or lycee and that of the university. 4-The practice, now in common vogue, of making the first two years of college work only an extension of the work in the secondary school.

5-The contention, which seems to be well founded, that much of the secondary work of today was college work 30 years ago. tendency, already manifesting itself in some quarters, in accor-dance with which high schools are offering postgraduate work, and universities are accepting this work in lieu of the work of the first two years.

7—The principle that the line of separation at the close of the second college year is much more clearly marked pedagogically, than the line at the close of the present high school period. 8-The tendency, everywhere appar-ent, to extend the scope of the educational work offered by the state maunicipality.

9-The tendency, already beginning to be noticed, among smaller colleges to limit the work offered to that of the preparatory school and the first two 10-The opinion, not frequently expressed, that the work of the eighth grade is in some measure superfluous for certain classes of pupils, some measure injurious to certain oth-

11-The belief, more and more generally accepted, that the work of the school must be adapted to the needs and possibilities of the individual pil, rather than that pupils should be reated in mass.

Those favoring the proposition, howrecognized the following points which might be urged against it The inclination to regard any system actually in use as better than a system or policy still to be tested. 2. The feeling that the reduction of time can only be gained by a loss of thoroughness. 3. The general lack of interest in any proposition to substitute a well-ordered ducational system for the present lack of system. The difficulties involved in adjusting the lower work to the higher, on the ground that the great mass of ju-plis receive only the lower, and that the public-school system is intended primarily for them. The belief that the state has already gone too far in providing public education of a high character.

6. The opinion that the present college-policy, although it is the result of a gradual development, has now reached a position which it must always оссиру. 7. The fear that the college 'dea would be injured by the rivalry of the new high-school colleges, 8. The desire to see specialism begin at a very early age.

9. The hesitation with which many would regard the transfer of the c gith grade from the realm of elementary to that of secondary work.

to accept the doctrine of individualism in the field of pedagogical work.

A committee of 21 of the most promfrom the grades, seven from the University— with plenty of money to pay all syand asked to make a scientific study of the question and report in one or two years if possible. No doubt, the results of this committee's work will be felt in time, in many of the schools of JOHN M. MILLS

The Deseret News offers the following cash prizes for contributions to its Christmas edition to be issued Saturday, Dec. 20, 1902. First, $50 for the best Christmas story, not to exceed 8,500 works (about seven columns of the "News" type).

Second, $25 for the best Christmas poem, not to exceed 1,200 words. All contributions to be in the "News" office not later than Dec. 3, 1902. Nothing received later than that date will be considered. Contestants are requested to sign their contributions with an initial letter or a nom de plume, to conceal their identity, and to forward in a separate envelope securely sealed, their real names and the initial or the nom de plume appended to their articles. On the outside of the envelope should be written "Proper name of " (here indicate the initial or nom de plume used).. All members of the "News" staff will be excluded from the contest. The awards for the story and the poem will be made by competent ju dges, to be announced later.

NELLIE WILSON DEAD.

Well Known Young Woman of Sandy Suddenly Called Home.

The many friends of Miss Nellie Wilson of Sandy will be grievously surprised to hear of that young lady's sudden death at her home yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. On Wesdnesday Miss Wilson was apparently as well as usual, until her return home from the postoffice, where she was employed as assistant to her father, W. W. Wilson, She complained of pains in her stomach which increased in severity for several hours. Yesterday morning she was better. During the afternoon the pains returned and just before 3 o'clock she went to her father and said: "Good-bye, father, I am going. Don't you and mother cry for me. I am all right." Those were the fast words the ach which increased in severity for right." Those were the fast words she spoke, and, before her parents could comprehend what she meant, she passed peacefully away.

AS TO SMALLPOX, Dr. Noyes Denies the Reported Laxity

At American Fork. The state board of health has received a communication from Dr. Noyes, of American Fork, relative to the smallpox situation at that place. The doctor denies that the quarantine laws are not being enforced to prevent the spread of the disease, but to the contrary, he says, they are being rigidly enforced and the disease is now under control by the local physicians.

In the past few weeks there have been over 100 cases in that vicinity and about 12 per cent of them have been very severe. Every precaution has been taken to prevent the disease from spreading to the surrounding towns. Dr. Noyes said that the people were all being vaccinated, and that in the past two weeks he vaccinated over 200.

AUTOMATIC TELEGRAPHY. Scheme Tried by the Associated Press Last Evening.

The new system of automatic telegraphy was tried last evening by the Associated Press between Chicago and San Francisco, and the trial was successful. The speed possible is about the same as can be made on an ordinary typewriter. No more than 60 to 70 words a minute is practicable be of the limitations in copying at the re-ceiving end. By the use of the opertors' code-the telegraphic shorthandthis speed is possible now.

The main objection to the machine seems to be that there is no individuality in the sending. Operators under the old method have each a style their own. The receiving operator who becomes accustomed to this style can take the messages more readily than is possible when sent by machine. The other objection is that the general adoption of the machines will make it general ier for the companies to get along without skilled operators.

AMUSEMENTS.

The season of the Royal Italian Band at the Tabernacle opened last night before a fair sized audience. While the house was far from being full, the turncut was a long way in advance of any of those which greeted the same organization last year under Creatore. The enthusiastic reception which the band received last night, one in every way deserved, ought to result in filling the house the remaining three concerts. A great aggregation of artists Mr. Ellery has brought together this year, While the gymnastic pyrotechnics of Creatore are lacking, Mr. Raveli as a leader, produces results just as artistic, and pleases his audiences by his graceful but fiery manner of conducting. H is without doubt a bandmaster of the first school, and his march that opened the program shows that he is a composer as well. Last night's program was remarkable, in that every number given by the band had an encore except the closing one, and that would have had a recall had it not been for the lateness of the hour. One of the most striking features of the organization is the tremendous way in which it works up its grand finales. The "Ernani" selection and the grand Fantasia from "Mefistofele" were ly electrifying in their volume of At the same time the band showsimply ed it was capable of doing most deli-cate work, and the clarionets and flutes in passages of this sort were exquisite. It was hard to pick out the one selection of the evening that called for most praise, but probably the "Mignon" number, the "Ernani" selection, and the "Mefistofele" Fantasia deserved the the "Menstotele Fantasia deserved the palm. Each encore was something in the lighter vein and included such selections as "Narcissus," "Salome," and "The American Patrol." The solo hit of the night was the harp number by Signor Setaro, who is one of the finest rerformers ever heard here. His fin ful. He rendered a selection from "Trovatore," and being twice encored, gave "Bonnie Sweet Bessie" and a third number most exquisitely. The trumpet solo by Signor Palma, Sch bert's "Serenade," was scarcely le beautiful, and he too stormed the aud ence by rendering "Nearer My God to for an encore. The two numbers by the Tabernacle choir formed a pleasing variety to the program, and the reception the singers met with from the Italian artists p ably made some people in the audience rub their eyes. Doubtless as a compli-ment to the band, Mr. Stephens gracefully made both his selections from the Italian school, rendering first "Hail us Ye Free," from "Ernani," and second a chorus from "Norma." After this number the band applauded so vociferously that the audience caught the infection and brought the choir out again when it gave a third selection from Italian opera, "The Pilgrim's Chorus," from Lombardi. The choir did beautiful work throughout, except that the faint-ness in the tenors was quite noticeable. in the first number. Mr. McClellan did some dainty execution in the Lombardi ceived its deserts the Tabernacle would be crowded nightly. Tomorrow afternoon's matinee ought to be enormous ly attended by the young folks.

At the Grand last night there was a good house in attendance to see an-other offering in the melo dramatic school, "The Convict's Daughter." The play belongs in the lurid thrilling class with a big sensation at the end of ev-ers act and numerous smaller ones sprinkled through it. The company is a fairly capable one, the principal acting being on the part of Mr. Ogden, who delineated first the genius tramp, next the escaped convict, and finally the millionaire. Miss Darrell as the daughter and Miss Sain as the house-maid were both good. The play runs for the remainder of the week with a Saturday matinee.

One of the biggest houses of the season is assured tonight at the Theater, when the widely advertised "King Dodo" forms the bill.

HEAVY MUTTON SHIPMENTS.

In an interview had last week with a reporter of the Kansas City Drovers' Telegram, anent sheep conditions in Utah, Chas. Jackson, of Ephraim, Utah, said: "It would seem that the immensity of Utah's sheep marketings this fall will result in almost depleting the flocks of the state, and the shipping industry be paralyzed for the next few years, but such is not the case. Never before in the history of the commonwealth has there been such a heavy movement of sheep to Kansas City and the east as there has been during the season which is now closing. Yet in spite of the drain, we will carry over a big supply of breeding stock and lambs, and next fall will be right to the front again with plenty of supplies for the east.

"The Utah movement is more than three-fourths finished. Several small bands will straggle in during the next two or three weeks, but the movement will be comparatively insignificant. Most of our sheep have now been plac-ed on the winter range in the valleys and on the desert. Grass and weeds are a trifle short on account of the dry weather, but I think there will be no trouble in carrying all our sheep through the winter in good shape. Last fall the range was overstocked because we could not market all the sheep we desired, but this season, while we have rear depleted the flocks, we have renot depleted the flocks, we have re duced them in numbers so that th sheep held over will be all the better off than were there more of them. "For the sheepmen of Utah I wish to say that we certainly appreciate the noble manner in which you folks have taken care of our shipments this year. While we rushed supplies in at a terrific rate, the feeder market held up above last year and the fat sheep market was almost as good as in 1901. Last fall I received $3.65 for wethers on the highest market of the season, while this season I was paid $3.50 at the low time. Had the packers and feeders so chosen they could have quit the market and almost ruined us, for we were certainly overstocked with sheep and heavy marketings were a necessity with us. To your credit, however, you took care of us in great shape, and we appreciate it to a great extent."

Stepped Against a Hot Stove, A child of Mrs. Geo. T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Kellar, Va.
